

Today a global supplier for process instrumentation and automation, KROHNE started out as a small enterprise over a century ago in 1921. For over more than 100 years we have established local contacts in more than 100 countries and built a network of production facilities to serve our customers in all regions of the world. KROHNE has progressed from a manufacturer of instrumentation to a provider of industrial measurement products, solutions and services, while remaining an independent family-owned company.

KROHNE ALTOMETER in Dordrecht is one of the largest production sites of the KROHNE Group, with more than 600 professionals contributing to the process of developing and manufacturing flowmeters.

QHSE manager

Location

Dordrecht, The NETHERLANDS

What we expect of you

As QHSE manager you are a member of the local management team and part of the international quality team (matrix organization). You are responsible for the Quality, Health, Safety & Environment Management, which includes implementing and maintaining the local QHSE management system and ensure its effectiveness. With your leadership and expertise you will work in a collaborative way closely with other departments, particularly production, R&D, sales and service in a challenging and versatile position. In addition, you promote awareness about and support for QHSE within our organization locally and international.

Your main responsibilities

You will drive the mindset of the organization on QHSE topics. Concretely, You will lead and motivate the quality and service & repair departments and proactively support customers and our sales organizations in case of escalation cases and critical repair & services activities. As a QHSE manager you also monitor and manage KPI's. You will lead and coordinate audits (internal and external) and define, implement and evaluate corrective and preventive actions. Next to that you support process owners to maintain their process and associated management systems.

Your qualities, skills and experience

We are looking for a people leader who is technically very strong and has the capacity to develop knowledge and understanding of our high level technical products. You have knowledge and experience in quality and 6-sigma tools and also have knowledge in Environmental and Health & Safety regulations (Dutch and European). Your international experience, your leadership and communication skills ensure that you are valued as a person but also in your field of expertise.

You have strong communication skills in English (spoken & written). Oral comprehension of Dutch would also be highly appreciated. Due to the international nature of the role, you are willing to travel. You have an adequate university degree (Masters or equivalent) and a minimum of 5 years' management experience in relevant field.

Our offer

KROHNE is an innovative and leading global company in the measurement industry. At KROHNE you are assured of a challenging and versatile position with high responsibilities and focus on your personal development. Additionally, we offer you the following:

- Initial annual contract leading to a permanent contract;
- Salary commensurate with the position and an attractive bonus scheme;
- Attractive pension scheme;
- Company car;
- 25 days paid leave (+3 fixed);
- You will enjoy working for an international, privately held, family run company with a family culture and friendly environment.

You can find additional information about our organization at www.krohne.com

For details, please contact our HR department HR.Dordrecht@KROHNE.com